SKANSKA
Arlington, Virginia

New construction for a development company

Skanska's new Northern Virginia development office is located in one of the company's most recently developed properties, 1776 Wilson Boulevard. The office is designed to showcase this property, as well as Skanska's other development projects throughout the Metropolitan area. Images of recently completed and current projects are prominently displayed on digital screens and through suspended, cable framing systems throughout the space. The office is planned as 100% open, with emphasis on collaboration and teaming.

Branding and Culture are prominent design elements throughout the space. The Skanska "S" is incorporated on glass and walls, as well as through a unique, dropped ceiling feature over low-partitioned workstations. In addition to a recognizable branding statement, the feature provides acoustical absorption in the open work area. The bright and energetic employee pantry is located on the window-line for staff to enjoy the outside views and abundance of natural light.

This project achieved LEED CI Platinum Certification.
